NEWS BY THE PAPERS.

Additional from Central and South America.

PERU.

From Peru we learn that the prospects of the rebels there are not so bright as by previous accounts, and it is now thought the Government will succeed in quelling the insurgents. Meanwhile business remains in a most ruinous condition.

CHILI.

There is little of importance from Chili. The passage of the law tolerating religious worship of all kinds, has, at length, been satisfactorily settled.

Government has given notice that it will receive tenders for the long talked-of scheme of steam communication to England, via the Straits.

VALPARAISO.

Business at Valparaiso has greatly improved, as well as charters for ships. Exchange on England at Valparaiso was 45 1-2 a 46 1 2c.

CENTRAL AMERICA—EXECUTION OF BARRIOS.

From Central America we have the intelligence of another piece of barbarity. Salvador, following in the steps of Ecuador, where the President recently shot twenty-seven persons in Guyaquil, has held a summary court martial on the ex-President of the State, General Barrios, as a revolutionist, and had him shot.

He was notified of his sentence at 11 o'clock at night, and was shot at 4 o'clock next morning.

Barrois was one of the most liberal and intelligent men in Central America, and his cruel and and unnatural death has created general dissatisfaction through Central America.

Texas.

A building formerly used as a powder mill near Marshall, Texas, was recently blown up, and with it four men belonging to the 8th Illinois regiment, who were terribly burned and wounded. Two of them, named Davis and Little, lingered in excruciating pain until the following morning, when he died. The other two, named Grate and Algood, will recover.

Major J. M. Baker, of Starville, Smith county, Texas, was recently murdered near Marshal, Texas, by, as was supposed, a man named J. S. Butler, of the same town. There was an old grudge existing between the parties.

Considerable cotton was coming into Houston. Prices ranged from 15 to 32 cents in specie, according to quality.

The Austin Intelligencer says great interest is manifested in the discovery of petroleum in Texas. Lands in the vicinity of Sand Lake have been leased to an oil company for a term of years.

High prices were procured for the property offered at Government auction sale, which the Intelligencer considers as among the cheering indications of the return of the golden era.

The Houston Gazette says seventy-five counties have been organized in the south of Texas.

The Intelligencer, of the 25th ult., notices the murder of M. M. Parkenson. Ben Thompson, a citizen, was arrested, charged with the murder and robbery.

The destruction of cotton by the worm would prove serious in some counties. This, together with the general indifference of freedmen to work, would likely cut the crop very short.

Three thousand negro troops were at Corpus Christi. The rate of mortality among them averaged three per day. The state of discipline was good, and these sable soldiers exhibited great proficiency in drill. There is a scarcity of good water at that point. The Neuces Valley abounds with beeves of the finest description. A Government wharf-boat is to be built at Corpus Christi, and other arrangements indicating a permanent post.

The Galveston Bulletin, of the 8th instant, says it is the intention of General Gregory, Assistant Commissioner of Freedmen for Texas, to establish public schools at once throughout the State.

The Henderson Times admits that the statements made in that paper of the depredations by the United States troops, under General Merritt, in passing through Texas, were exaggerated.

Two Tragedies in Richmond.

On Friday night Mrs. Elizabeth Ould, an English woman, shot with a pistol and severely wounded a man named R. H. Meade. Meade had been paying some attention to Mrs. Ould, and she alledges that he had engaged to marry her; but falling in love with a Manchester damsel, he had deserted Mrs. O., and was to have been married yesterday to the Manchester lady. Hence the shooting. Mrs. Ould repented of the deed the instant it was accomplished, and implored Mead's forgiveness. She was arrested and taken to the police station. Mead's wound is not considered dangerous, and after a brief examination, on Saturday, the case was postponed till such time as Meade will be able to appear before the Provost Judge. In the meantime the Judge offered to bail Mrs. Ould in the sum of $1000, but up to Saturday night she had not been able to give the security required.

At a late hour on Saturday night Mr. Perkins, residing in Sidney, at the corner of Belvidere and Cary streets, was aroused from his bed by his wife, who said there were burglars in the house. Mr. Perkins arose and examined the house, but found no burglars. He returned to his bed, but during the night heard, or thought he heard, somebody moving through the house. He got up, took his revolver, and seeing somebody moving at his chamber door, fired. Horrible to relate, the shot took effect in the breast of his wife, from the effects of which she died soon after. The husband, who, of course, was beside himself with grief at the occurrence, immediately surrendered himself, but as the tragedy was shown to be of a purely accidental nature, he was discharged.—Petersburg Index.

PETITION.—The ladies of Portsmouth are now busily circulating for signatures a petition addressed to His Excellency, Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, praying for the pardon and release from confinement of Jefferson Davis, President of the late Confederacy. The petition is said to be a model of beauty in its diction.

THE DAILY SENTINEL.

WM. E PELL, Editor.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 28 1865

OUR TERMS.

THE SENTINEL is issued every morning (Sunday excepted) at the following rates:

For six months, - - - - -	$5.00
For one month - - - - -	1,00
" two months - - - - -	2 00

Our terms are invariably in advance. The scarcity of money however, obliges us to say to our friends, that responsible and prompt persons who desire the Sentinel need not delay sending us their names at once, who can send us the Cash in a short time. The money may be sent us by the Rail Road Conductors or the Express Company.

The Freedman's Bureau.

The officers in charge of this Bureau in this city, we are pleased to say, have shown themselves not only highly competent for their position, but especially accommodating, kind and prompt in attending to all.

In regard to the Freedmen, while they are strict to guard them against injustice and mistreatment, they indulge no sickly sentimentalism in regard to the negro, no fanatical prepossessions in favor of the colored race to the damage of the white race. We believe they have done what they could to teach the Freedmen their true status; to impress upon them the absolute necessity of self-reliance, of proper regard for their former owners and a becoming respect for and deference to the white race. Especially have they offered inducements to them to go to work, and sought to promote their future well-being in encouraging them to seek permanent homes.

But our special object in noticing the Bureau, is to express our pleasure, at the promptness with which the officers are now restoring to refugees and others their property in the Eastern part of the State. Several of our old Newbern friends called on us yesterday, and informed us that they were about to be put in possession of their property in that place, and in some instances it had been done. Many will therefore again return to their old homes, to resume their business and once more to begin life. There was a time when the society and general surroundings of Newbern made it one of the most desirable places to visit in the State. We trust the day is not distant, when it will be equal to itself in former days.

A Dog Fight.

Most of people like a dog fight. An interesting speech, a good dinner, a close chat with a friend long absent, and even a good sermon, are not sufficiently engrossing to keep the ears of the multitude from pricking up, if Bose and Towser growl in their hearing. The same feeling prompts men to like a tussel between two boys, a fight between two gamesters, or a fisticuff between two darkies. Some how or other the bulk of the world is always in for a fight, and hence, we are against the fashion and folly of the world, which perish.

The same proclivity prompts many readers to fancy a pen and ink squabble between newspapers, even if it is, as is generally the case, about nothing or a little less. Now we are neither akin to Bose nor Towser, nor do we relish any of those small doings which put people by the ears. If a cotemporary has manliness enough about him to discuss a question of any moment, let him pitch into us just when he gets the humor, and we will try to accommodate him. But your snapping, barking, growling canines will not move us.

Brig. Gen. Vance.

Some few weeks since, several U. S. officers called on Gen. Vance at his farm near Asheville, when his wife excused him stating he had gone to mill. He has been ploughing and doing other farm work ever since the surrender. What an example to the young men of the South.—Salisbury Banner.

Gen. Vance and his brother Zebulon B. Vance belong to the true nobility of the land. They are men who work—who believe in work, and if they have no one to work under their direction, they are just the men who roll up their sleeves and go at it. If any one should chance to visit the Governor, we should not be surprised if he has gone to mill too, that is, if he have the grist to carry. Such men will live in history, and in the memories of the people, though fortune may compel them, as it now does many, to struggle for bread.

The Telegraph.

The electric telegraph was invented by a lawyer, who lived in Davidson county, and who wrote Prof. Morse a full account of the invention, who stole his lightning.

The Salisbury Banner is responsible for the above. If it be true that a North Carolina lawyer, a resident of Davidson County in this State, was the inventer of the telegraph, his name should be given, and the fact should be established. The discovery of the telegraph is the wonder of the age. Several, we believe, have contended for the palm with Prof. Morse, but the public we still yield it to him.

MR. VALLANDIGHAM's ability as a stump speaker, as well as the absence of something better, justify the space we have given to extracts from his late speech. He says some things which we do not endorse, but his spirit and tone are so acceptable to Southern readers, and will exert so happy an influence over them, that we cannot withhold them.

Wit is pleasant, agreeable, when it is wit, but a mere pretence at it, is always turned upon the perpetrator. People who have some common sense but no wit, would do better to leave attempts to others who can manage the blade.

William A. Graham.

Last week we expressed our regret that this distinguished statesman was not pardoned in time to be a member of the Convention. The Raleigh Sentinel in copying our article approvingly, expresses gratification "that past differences of political opinions do not prevent the Times from doing justice to our distinguished fellow citizen, Wm A. Graham."

In times past, it is true, we differed radically with Mr. Graham. Our political tenents were the very antipodes. He was the "very head and front" of the old Whig party in this State. We a private in the Democratic ranks. But our political affinities nor prejudices never prevented us, even in times of high party excitement, from doing justice to an honorable, pure and conscientious opponent. We ever regarded Gov Graham as occupying a position far too lofty to descend to the dirty work of party—as a statesman of the most undoubted integrity, the most unblemished honor, and a patriot above suspicion, consequently always admired him.

We regard all parties at the South as dead, and any attempt to resuscitate them as little less than criminal. We should be a unit now. Gov. Graham is one around whom all can rally—one to whom all can look, for calm, manly statesmanship; and we should hail his reappearance in the council of the State or nation as ominous of good. We are too often tricked into placing in positions of eminence and responsibility, inferior men—mere demagogues—to the exclusion of our more able and best qualified.

We agree with the Sentinel, as the tone of our paper will show, in desiring those least objectionable should be brought forward now. We will have to yield something now to the prejudices of the North, in order to prove our loyalty, and strengthen the hands of our friends there. We did not refer to the members of the South Carolina Convention, to indicate that we desired to see similar members sent to ours, but only to show that there was a degree of distrust and stringency evinced here that we in vain look for there.

We did not intend to place Gov. GRAHAM in the same category with Gen. HAMPTON, (though he might have been in worse company) We are somewhat informed as to his past views and and course of action. We know that he was opposed to secession and did all he could to stem the tide; but when he found his efforts unavailing, like a man with his heart in the right place, he sided with his section and gave it the benefit of his wise counsels. We know what course he pursued in the Confederate States—that he looked to the interest of the whole South and used his power and influence to adjust and conciliate before it was too late.

The Sentinel does not seem to be fully posted as to Gen. Hampton's antecedents. He was known as one of the most conservative men in his State. In 1860 he made a speech condemning the entire movement looking to the disruption of the Union. He was in Louisiana, when the South Carolina convention met, took no part in its proceedings, and was the last man to give in his adhesion to the new government. Reared in the States Rights school, that recognized the State as sovereign, he believed he owed her his allegiance, and when she withdrew, and the conflict became eminent, like a true man, he offered her his sword. The conflict came. He had to take one side or the other, could he hesitate? If he had, he would not have been the Chevilier Bayard of his race and nation, as he has shown himself to be. A gentleman of the old school, a statesman of exalted character, and devoted christian, we can well appreciate the motive which impelled him to enter the contest. We have thought proper to say thus in justice to these eminent men—Graham the statesman and Hampton the model christian warrior.—Char. Times.

We copy the above with pleasure, and we endorse it. The Times is correct when it says, "we should be a unit now." We want no division. We have but one interest and should have but one aim. We are obliged to the Times for its information in reference to Gen. Hampton. We had placed him in a different category.—ED. SENTINEL.

The pressure upon our advertising columns to-day, obliges us to omit editorial and other matter.

The Riot at Concord, N. C., last Thursday.

We learn from gentlemen, residents of Concord, some further particulars of the late riot at that place between the negroes and the citizens. It seems, as is generally the case on election days, the whole affair was brought about by certain whites and blacks indulging too freely in spirituous liquor. Many negroes were undoubtedly under the influence of liquor and very insulting—using such words as these: We came here to vote—we will be d—d if, we don't vote. We are free; the bottom rail will soon be on top, &c. The whites were neither entirely sober nor fault less. The riot, however, was not anticipated or preplaned. No one expected it. It was just such an one as not unfrequently occurs at a corn shucking, a log rolling, or on election days at any little village or precinct where whiskey is indulged too freely.

The row originated by the discharge of a pistol in the hands of a discharged Union soldier who having married in this state now resides near Concord. This soldier, in company with a citizen, both intoxicated, were observed, some time before the disturbance, to be very noisy,—the soldier carrying a pistol in his hand, in a menacing manner. They got into some difficulty with the negroes. In the meantime the pistol being discharged a crowd gathered and the riot began and ended with several persons of opposite color getting bruised heads and the whites running the negroes out of town. This is an unfortunate, as well as a very unusual affair, for the orderly, quiet, and law abiding citizens of Cabarrus; and we know that none regret it more than they.—Sal. Banner

NEGRO REFUGEES.—There has been for some time past quite a demand upon the city to take charge of negro refugees arriving here and becoming sick, without any money or any other means to be taken care of. Many of these people have died during the past summer, and the city has had to defray the usual and necessary burial expenses, until now it has become a great tax to meet. Two or three, and often more, die from neglect and want among these people every week, and to defray these expenses when the number is increasing rather than diminishing, by arrivals from the country, is more than can be expected from the city under the present condition of her financial affairs. The acting mayor has ordered that the matter have an ending immediately, and very properly so. These people can go into the country if they will, and by so doing retrive their health, and not become a burden to an already over taxed city.—Wilmington Journal.

CITY AND STATE ITEMS.

POLICE OF THE CITY.—Under the management of the Provost Marshall and our city police, quiet is preserved. The authorities are doing a good work in arresting loungers and indolent freedmen, who eat but will not work. They have a place to fit all idlers.

OUR MERCHANTS.—We are glad to perceive the activity of trade among our city merchants. They have we judge been doing well. If the people had money, everything would work admirably.

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.—The N. C. Life Insurance Company located here, is the oldest chartered institution of the kind in the State. Its advertisement in to-days issue notifies the public that it is still at work. The Company has been well managed, and its course has been such as to secure the confidence of the people.

HEARTT AND MIAL it will be observed, offer a fine stock of goods at the old stand of Mr. Heartt. His old customers and the public, will be apt to find there what they want, and all right.

A. R. RAVEN & Co's column is attractive, but not so much so as their articles. Buyers will find there multum in parvo. It will be hard to call for an article without getting it there.

DELEGATES coming to the Convention need not be alarmed now about provisions for the inner man. We do not live in Confederate times, when every man needed to take his snack along with him. We have had the best market for the last four months, the oldest inhabitant has ever known.

MR. POWELL's fine cotton farm for rent or lease, deserves the notice of gentlemen desirous of farming. See advertisement.

Mr. Geo. V. Scott of Petersburg it will be seen, opens a Commission House. Notice advertisement.

GENERAL NEWS.

Governor Hamilton of Texas has done one good thing. He has instructed the military authorities in that State to require of all negroes a certificate from their employers, showing that they obtain an honest living. If they cannot do this, they are sent to work to pay Uncle Sam for the grub they eat.

HIGH RENTS.—The old frame tenement in Portsmouth, next to the Virginia Bank on High street, was rented last Thursday at the enormously high rate of $850.

The Mobile Tribune says the entire section of country between Atlanta and Chattanooga, Georgia, is still a mass of ruins, and that the people who lived there in happiness are now wandering about homeless and almost hopeless.

A young man who had belonged to the late Confederate army, was arrested in Portsmouth a few days since for a violation of orders by wearing a Confederate uniform. He was ordered to cut the buttons off, and dismissed.

The venerated Georgetown College is again in full operation, with about one hundred boarders, many of whom are from the South, and about as many day scholars.

THE EXCURSION.—Maj. Gen. Ruger and party accompanied by Maj. General Cook, lady and part of his staff, were on a pleasure excursion, inspection and sight seeing, down the Cape Fear yesterday. They visited Fort Fisher going and Fort Anderson on the return, and were much pleased with the result. They returned late in the afternoon by the tug McB. Davidson, special steamer.

Gen Ruger leaves this morning at 9 o'clock by special train for Newbern and Morehead city, and from thence to Raleigh, when it is thought, after a short rest, he will pay a visit to the western part of the State.—Wil. Herald.

RIVERSIDE

For Rent or Lease.

I WILL RENT FOR ONE YEAR, OR LEASE FOR a term of years, to any gentleman, my Farm, a

MOST DESIRABLE PLANTATION,

lying in Wake County, 12 miles below Raleigh and within 6 miles of Clayton on the North Carolina Rail Road, on the most liberal terms.

It contains 1450 acres 700 to 800 being cleared, under a good fence, and in a good state of cultivation—150 acres being good fresh, low grounds on Neuse river.

It is well adapted to the cultivation of

COTTON, CORN, POTATOES, &c.

From 300 to 350 bales of Cotton may be raised annually, besides the Corn, &c., necessary to the farm.

It has a good Dwelling House, houses for 50 or 60 laborers, with a new Cotton Gin and Screw, and all other necessary buildings.

I will also sell to the lessee or renter, all or any part of the Mules, Cattle, Hogs Waggons and farming utensils, and what Corn Oats, Fodder, &c., he may desire for the farm.

NORTH CAROLINA

MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

THE FOLLOWING STATEMENT OF THE CONdition of the N. C. Mutual Life Insurance Company will show that after all the vicissitudes of the war the Company is still strong, and merits the continuance of the patronage heretofore so generously bestowed.

ASSETS

Premium notes liable to assessment,	$120,198
Bonds of solvent individuals,	28.004
	$152,202

LIABILITIES.

Losses allowed up to Jan. 1, 1865,	35 249
Excess of assets over liabilities,	$116 953

To meet the above liabilities, the Directors have ordered the collection of the individual bonds, and an assessment of 20 per cent. on the premium notes, which should yield

Bonds,	$23 004
Assessment,	25 839
	$48 843
Losses,	35,249
An excess of	$13,694

Sufficient to cover all deficiencies.

If the Company shall be patronized by the public as before the war, there will be the annual profits in cash and premium notes which may be added to the assets now in hand, for the payment of liabilities.

Nearly all the above lisbilities would have been extinguished but for the refusal of claimants to receive the currency in circulation at the time of the losses. They can not reasonably complain of some delay. It will be remembered that the premium notes are the accumulations of notes given by insurers for one-half their annual premiums, which the Company had the right to require to be paid in cash. On the face of the note the insurer promises to pay whenever requested by the Directors, and all payments on assessments will be so much added to the sum insured, by diminishing to that amount, the premium note to be deducted in case of loss. Many insurers pay the whole premium in cash as a matter of choice. It is believed that the losses may be paid by the first instalment of ten per cent. added to the contemplated profits; but it is the firm intention of the Directors to meet all their liabilities as promptly as the condition of the country will permit, even if to do so, it may be necessary to order the collection of all the premium notes.

Extracts from Vallandgham's Speech.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON.

Where stand the Democrats? They tell you, with General Sherman, that there are no rebels now, and that you must trust the people of the South. [Applause.] They tell you, with President Johnson, that the people of the South are honorable men, and that when they promise in the future, fidelity to the Constitution and obedience to the laws of the land, they are to be trusted. What says the President? I am not here as his special advocate, and never, never while that sun rolls through the heavens, will I be his advocate until he has restored the habeas corpus and trial by jury, thus subordinating the military to the civil authorities of the land. We must have no more military murders of citizens, such as was committed the other day in the city of Columbus—no military executions by order of military commissions which, as Henry Winter Davis says, are organized to convict. I am confident that to-day the President regrets what has been done in this particular, and would exclaim with Macbeth, in the play:

"Out—out—damned spot."

But it is there. But in so far as the policy of the President is correct, in so far as he stands on and by the principles of the Constitution, above all so far as he is for the immediate restoration of the Southern States to the Union, I am determined to stand by him, and I believe that is the decision of the Democratic party of the Union.—If he will but make good by acts, the utterances of his on the eleventh day of this month—only five days ago—he will have the support of the men who were Union men before he and I were born, and whose children will be the Union men for generations to come. [Applause.] Hear him; in addressing the Southern delegation in the City of Washington; he said:

"Yes, the issue was made by the South against the Government, and the Government has triumphed, and the South, true to its ancient instincts of frankness and manly honor—"

Imagine such a sentiment as that coming from the lips of Jacob Dolson Cox, or Robert C. Schenck, to say nothing of the lesser lights of the Abolition party. Why, what is that but rank disloyalty, sympathy with secession? Arrest Mr. Johnson? Why doesn't some military commission arrest him? Judge Advocates, do you hear that? Execute him! execute him! [Applause.]

"The South, true to its ancient instincts of manly honor, comes forth and professes its willingness to abide the result of the decision in good faith."

So says Andrew Johnson. And yet that South, which is true to those noble instincts and willing to return to the Union—that South, to accommodate Mr. Cox and Mr. Schenck, and Mr. Sherman, and others like them, must be kept out of the Union for thirty years, until the negroes of the South, through the Freedmen's Bureau, can be educated up to that high point of civilization of doing abolition voting. [Applause.]

THE FREEDMEN'S BUREAU.

Freedmen's Bureau! Well, we had a Bureau of the Secretary of State, of the Secretary of War, of the Navy, and of the Treasury, in good old Democratic times, to administer the Government for the benefit of white men, but now we have this new-fangled thing, the Bureau of Freedmen, to take especial care of the negroes, whose, chief, in a little while, if the party that now controls the country keeps in power, will seek admittance to the council of the President as a Cabinet Minister! Freedmen's Bureau! What does it mean? Rations which belong to the soldiers food, clothing, shelter from the weather all that you give your families for four millions of negroes to be provided with these things, and not only that, but to be instructed by some Massachusetts schoolmarm in the alphabet and rule of three [laughter], and you to be taxed for it—taxed to support four millions of negroes until they are educated up to the white man's standard! No, if we are to have more bureaus, I have one to propose. It the enemy of the soldiers, as you have been told, have a good one, and I propose to agitate it until they repeal the Freedmen's Bureau. I want a Returned Soldier's Bureau. [Laughter.] If they are going to levy taxes for the support of negroes I want a tax levied and twice as heavy on United States bonds as on any thing else, I want a bureau to feed and clothe returned soldiers, the lame and the sound, the sick and the healthy—all who want food and clothing. Is Jacob Dolson Cox in favor of establishing a Returned Soldiers' Bureau? If he is, let him say so, and let him repudiate the Freedmen's Bureau. The Freedmen's Bureau! It has already drawn millions and tens of millions of dollars from your pockets [Applause.]

PRESIDENT JOHNSON AGAIN.

And further, the President, in addressing this delegation, says:

"But gentlemen, if know myself, as I think I do, I know that I am of the Southern people."

Why, what a rebel! [Laughter.] What? the President of the United States dare admit that he belongs to the Southern race, is of the Southern people, a native of a Southern State, when I have been denounced as a traitor, a secessionist, and an enemy to my country simply because I desired that, peaceably and through compromise, our Southern brethren should return to the Union which their fathers and our fathers made in the good old days of the Republic! But listen to this: "I love them."

What! love traitors! love rebels! love Southern copperheads! [Laughter.] Why, next he will take Northern copperheads to his bosom; and, peradventure, I may have a little embrace myself then! [Great laughter.] Quien sabe? But,

"I love them, and will do all in my power—"

"Well, being President, he had a great deal of power. Lincoln had, we know that. At least I do. [Laughter]

"Will do all in my power to restore them to that state of happiness and prosperity which they enjoyed before the madness of misguided men, in whom they had reposed their confidence, led them astray."

This is precisely what the Democratic party is after. He could not have hit it better.

"If there is anything that can't be done, on my part, on correct principles of the Constitution, to promote these ends, be assured it shall be done."

And be assured, Andrew Johnson, that so far as you do it, on these principles, the Democratic party, one and undivided, will stand by you. [Applause.]

Again: "The institution of slavery," said the President, "is gone. The former status of the negroes had to be changed, and we, as wise men, must recognize so patent a fact, and adapt ourselves to circumstances as they surround us."

True wisdom, that! And accordingly the Southern delegation responded: "We are willing to do so." The President replied: "I believe you are." Jacob Dolson Cox says: "No! They have been unruly. They must be chastised.—They are bad boys, and they must be kept behind the schoolhouse door, and not permitted to enter for an indefinite period. Don't let them return again. It is true, we have punished them, and chastised them, but not enough." The President says: "I believe you. I believe when your faith is pledged it will be maintained in good faith." What! Rebels maintain faith!—What! traitors on whom we spent four thousand millions of dollars and a million of lives—through the blundering of the Administration during the first years of the war, because they made it a political war, until Grant and Sherman took hold and wouldn't carry it on for the benefit of the Republican party. (Applause.) What! maintain it in good faith! So says the President, and I stand behind him and at his back. (Applause.) Again:

"All I ask or desire of the South, North, East West"—(I am afraid he is getting into my section again.) (Laughter)—"is to be sustained in carrying out the principles of the Constitution."

Well said, Andrew Johnson, stick to it. Don't listen to Seward. Don't hearken to Stanton: get rid of them, and take back the old supports of the Constitution—the men who were educated to love the Union and to stand by the principles of the Constitution. Take them into your cabinet, and then you will be sustained in carrying out those principles of the Constitution and especially one of the most sacred of the principles of that Constitution—the writ of habeas corpus, and the right of trial by jury.

"It is not to be denied," adds the President, "that we have been great sufferers on both sides, good men have fallen, and much misery is being endured as the necessary result of so gigantic a contest. Why, then, cannot we come together, and around the common altar of our country, heal the wounds that have been made."

Again this is the purpose, the sole purpose of the Democratic party, and for that they have been denounced, are being denounced, and will again be denounced as traitors and sympathizers with secession. Well, we have got the President on our side, and we are the loyal party—[Laughter] We have the army on our side now, and it is a power. If our major generals don't come up to the work we have a President who, instead of saying as Mr. Lincoln did to Fernando Wood, "we stand by our generals," we will not stand by him. We have a President who, as in the case of General Slocum, doesn't wait for the mail, but revokes orders by telegraph when he does't think they are right and proper and constitutional. [Applause]

Johnson has done wrong, great wrong, in this matter of military commissions, and military execution. But he is realizing to-day what I heard when a boy, and has been a part of my political creed ever since, that a man to be an honest, thorough Democrat, must have been one, and if he is born a Democrat, though he may get out of the road, there is a spirit of magnetism about the body that, like the magnet that points to the North pole, always brings him back again. (Applause) No wonder there has been a convention of the great lights of the Abolition party since this speech of Mr. Johnson's was made. No wonder that there is a flocking to Washington City of the leaders of Abolitionism, like wild beasts going to pollute the feast of harmony and peace which the President proposes to give to the country. Again says the President:

"Our country has been scarred all over. Then, why can not we approach each other on principles which are right in themselves, and which will be productive of good to all?"

"The day is not distant when we shall feel like some family that has had a deep and desperate feud, the various members of which have come together, and compared the evils and sufferings they had inflicted on each other. They had seen the influence of their error, and its result, and, governed by a generous spirit of conciliation, they had become naturally forbearing and forgiving, and return to their old habits of of fraternal kindness, and become better friends than ever. Then let us consider that the feud which alienated us had been settled and adjusted to mutual satisfaction; that we come together to be bound by firmer bonds of love, respect and confidence than ever.

"The North cannot get along without the South, nor the South without the North; the East without the West, nor the West without the East; and I say it is our duty to do all that within our power lies to perpetuate and make stronger the bonds of our Union, seeing that it is for the common good of all that we should be united. I feel that this Union, though but the creation of a century, is to be perpetuated for all time, and that it cannot be destroyed except by the all-wise God who created it."

That is spoken of the people of the South to the people of the South. That is good, honest, straight-forward copperheadism! [Laughter]—I could not have said it better myself. [Laughter.] and I endorse every word of it, and only ask of the President that he will make it good by his acts. [Applause.]

THE SOUTH WANTED BACK.

These, then, are our principles. We are again, what we always were, in fact, the Union party of the United States. We do want the Southern States back. Why, Mr Cox and those who are aiding him need not go to the record to prove anything of the kind. They need not waste their breath in charging upon us that we are for establishing the family circle just as it was before it was broken up—that, though some of our brothers and sisters have wandered and got out of the family, now that they are repentant, we desire again to see them around the old hearthstone just as in the good old times before they went off. We do want the South back. Why don't they want it? First of all, because with the instincts of that Puritanism, which is the first principle of this party, there is hatred to the South; but that is not the only cause. One of the orators of the party in this State openly avows it. It is because if the South returns to the Union they will vote the electoral vote of eleven States with the Democratic party in 1868. Pardon me, but that's what's the matter. [Laughter.] That orator tells the people to whom he speaks, that they must not permit the Southern States to be restored to the Union, because the Democratic party will get again into power if they do. Be not alarmed, Mr. Schenck. The Democratic party will come into power any way. [Applause] They will restore the South when they come, whether you permit it or not. [Applause] We are for the Union, and were for it when, hypocritically, you were inscribing that word upon your banner. "By their fruits shall we know them." Our fruits are immediate Union. Their fruits are Union remote, contingent, perhaps impossible. Thank God, I can again stand up before the people of Ohio and of the United States, again to defend that faith which I learned in early boyhood, and which I maintained at all hazards until this hour of my life, and shall do so until my dying day. Thank God the logic of events, to borrow a phrase from the Republican candidate for Governor, places the Democratic party in its old position. [Applause.]

WEBSTER'S

VEGETABLE HAIR INVIGORATOR,

IS LIKED BY ALL IN PREFERENCE TO ANY in market for ten reasons:

1. Because it invariably turns gray hair to its original color in the short space of four weeks.
2. Because it is clean and nice, and will not stain the skin.
3. Because it removes all Dandruff and Scurf, and is as harmless as water.
4. Because thousands are using it, and every body should.
5. Because it is peculiarly adapted to all classes, old and young.
6. Because it is purely vegetable—not a dye
7. Because it kills hair eaters, and makes the hair luxuriant and soft.
8. Because it cures all humors and diseases of the scalp.
9. Because it arrests and prevents the hair from falling.
10. Because it is no humbug, but an honest article, as multitudes can testify; and if it don't prove as recommended, the money will be refunded.

Be sure and use the Invigorator according to directions on the bottle.

DAILY SENTINEL.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1865.

The Foreign Capitalists and the Meaning of Their Visit.

We have reported the progress of the foreign capitalists who have been making a rapid tour through the West during the past few weeks.—Some curiosity has naturally been expressed as to the meaning of their visit, and our railroad men and fancy stock jobbers are not a little exercised as to its effects upon certain railroad stocks now in the market. It may relieve these persons of their concern in the premises, if we state what seems to us to be the true meaning of the visit of these foreign railroad princes and capitalists to this country at this time.

In the first place, the necessity of better and more direct communications from the metropolis to the Great West has long been conceded. The present railway communications are indirect, imperfect and insufficient. The Erie road is the most direct avenue to the Western country, and, so far as it goes, it is a splendid road. But this is not all that is required. A double track its entire distance is demanded. This our foreign visitors express a determination to have laid down as soon as they conclude upon the terms of purchasing the stock and equipment of the entire road, or so much of them as may answer their present purposes. A double track being down upon the Erie, a double track must be laid from Salamanca, at the junction of the Erie and Atlantic and Great Western road, clear to Cincinnati. Thence, on the Ohio and Mississippi road, a double track must be laid to St. Louis, with a branch to Chicago, Detroit and other lake ports—the Atlantic and Great Western already touching the important city of Cleveland, on Lake Erie. From St. Louis, which thus becomes the metropolis of the Great West, and the starting point to the Great Pacific west, these foreign capitalists propose extending their railroad across the plains, through Colorado, Salt Lake, Nevada, Sacramento, &c., to San Francisco, on the Pacific shore. Thus will there be a continuous line of railroad communication, most of it double track, all the way from the city of New York, on the Atlantic, to the city of San Francisco, on the Pacific Ocean.

These magnificent enterprises are contemplated by the gentlemen now visiting our country investigating the opportunity it presents for the superabundant European capital. Our people should not be jealous of the undertakings of these foreign capitalists upon our soil. We want a Pacific Railroad, and do not care by whose money it is built. Sir Morton Peto can put fifty thousand men to work on this road in a few months, with but little more effort than it required him to build the military railway at Balaklava during the Crimean war, and for which enterprise he received from the Queen of Great Britain the honor of knighthood. The Pacific Railroad schemes of Fremont, Halleck, Durant, and others, have proven failures, although great bounties in land were donated to some of them by Congress. Several lines have been projected, but nothing has been done. Now, these foreign capitalists, we understand, propose to build a Pacific road without asking any land, merely the right of way across the continent. This is a most important project, changing, as it will, the course of the bulk of the traffic around the world, and directing it through the great American continent. The next Congress should take up this matter in a liberal and comprehensive spirit whenever it is presented to them. In the meantime, it would be well for these foreign capitalists to have an agent permanently established in Washington for the special purpose of looking after their interests, and promoting their designs for the development of the resources of our country.—N. Y. Herald.

An Example for News Boys.

We find the following in the Nashville Daily Union:

For several years past our citizens have doubtless noticed, amongst the newsboys of Nashville, a slender, dark haired and dark eyed little fellow, who was ever actively and industriously plying his vocation. He was the earliest to be seen in the morning, and the latest at night.—Neither the heat of summer, nor the cold, and ice, and snow, and rains of winter deterred him. It often seemed a mystery to us how one so delicate could endure so much. His calls were regularly made at all the Nashville newspaper offices, where his reputation for honesty and promptness, made him a most welcome visitor. He also sold Louisville, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Chicago, and New York papers. A more diligent and indefatigable trader, in his line, we never knew. He possessed remarkable business talent, and seldom made an investment that did not pay. He made money, and what is better, took care of it. A full share of it he spent upon his mother, and the remainder of the family, but this was casting bread on the waters and always returned to him, sooner or later, with interest. Well, this noble lad, is about to retire from the business. He has purchased a house and lot with the profits of his industry, and has a balance left with which he proposes to educate himself. So the sharp little trader, will for several years after this, be a school boy. Of course he will be a zealous, determined student. He has learned in the school of experience the value of time and steady application, and his training will avail him in the school house. When he graduates and bids adieu to the school room, he will then be fitted for any kind of business, and we doubt not will again enter on a career of success in some useful calling. Who will not join us in wishing prosperity and happiness, so long as he may live, to Charley Griffith.

A LADY MURDERED BY HER SERVANT.—Granville county, North Carolina, September 18, 1865.—A fearful tragedy was enacted some day since near Buchanan, in this county. Mrs. Parthenia Harris, wife of Haman Harris, was cruelly murdered by a negro woman, who formerly belonged to the family and still resided with them. Mrs. Harris was found dead in her yard, her head having been crushed with a rock so as to beat out her brains.

The woman was arrested on suspicion, confessed the deed, and the neighbors executed summary punishment upon her by hanging her to a tree. No cause was assigned for the act.—Petersburg Index.

GENERAL FRANK CHEATHAM'S POSITION.—Frank Cheatham, late General in the Confederate army, has sent in the following application for pardon:

"You know me, Mr President—who I am and what I have done. I am sorry, and if you will pardon me, I will be a faithful citizen henceforward. And whenever there is any more fighting to be done count me in whenever I may be needed."

NOTICE.

ON Thursday night, 4th May last, I was robbed of thirty N. C. State bonds of $1,000 each, by three or more persons, one of whom was a black man and two were white. Ten numbered from one to ten inclusive and were payable on 1st July 1864. (Of these No. 6 has been recovered) Ten from 137 to 147 inclusive, payable 1st July 1865. Ten from 610 to 619 inclusive, dated 1st January 1860, and issued under an "Act authorizing the public Treasurer to sell the bonds of the State for certain purposes" ratified 16th February 1859, chapter 43. Said bonds were payable to Seth Jones or bearer; but were registered, and therefore, not transferable by delivery: see act of 1856 chapter 16. A few Coupons only were attached to the first twenty. I was robbed also of two certificates of Bank Stock: one of Bank of North Carolina for 200 shares, No. 58. The other of the Bank of Cape Fear for 201 shares.

I will give a reward of $500 for recovery of said Bonds, or a proportional sum for any one or more of them. SETH JONES.

The Daily Sentinel.

"I WOULD RATHER BE RIGHT THAN BE PRESIDENT."---HENRY CLAY.

AN INDEPENDENT JOURNAL,
DEVOTED TO POLITICS, LITERATURE, AND GENERAL NEWS.

The Sentinel thinks and speaks for itself; approves the right, rebukes error, stands up for truth and justice, and is neither demagogical nor sycophantic.

It warmly advocates President Johnson's restoration policy, the perpetuity of the Union of the States, and the promotion of the material and moral interests of North Carolina and the South.

The near approach of the State Convention, the State Elections and the Legislature, makes the present a fit time to subscribe. The proceedings of the Convention and the Legislature will be fully reported for the Sentinel.

Upon the restoration of the mails, the Semi-Weekly and Weekly will be issued but not before, which cannot be earlier than January next.

Our circulation already is about equal to any in the State, and still growing. Advertisers will find it a capital medium.

THE BIBLICAL RECORDER.

AT AN EARLY DAY, I SHALL RESUME THE publication of the

The Recorder will be, what it has been heretofore, a religious and family newspaper. Each number will contain a large amount of original and selected reading matter designed to interest and improve all classes of readers.

The secular department will be continued under the supervision of a gentleman every way qualified for the work, and will contain a summary of the important events now occurring around us. This department will be done for the benefit of those who may not be able or not inclined to take more than one newspaper.

I shall add to the stock of materials now on hand, such articles as will enable me to execute job work of every kind with neatness and dispatch. Orders are solicited.

By industry and energy, and aided by able contributors I hope to make the Recorder more attractive and useful than it has ever been.
